Dear USF Faculty and Staff:

Every member of the USF community shares the responsibility for ensuring that the University demonstrates proper stewardship of the resources entrusted to us. Responsibility and ethical behavior are central to me personally and to my leadership team. We are committed to creating an institutional culture which supports and nurtures these values. We recognize that the first-hand knowledge of the way things are really working at USF resides with you, and we want to know if you have any knowledge of misconduct or violations of USF policies.

To help, USF recently partnered with EthicsPoint, Inc. to provide an anonymous telephone and Internet system for bringing concerns to the attention of University leadership. EthicsPoint has gone to great lengths to ensure that all communication through these channels is completely confidential.

Your input is essential to ensure that USF maintains a positive and productive workplace. This is your system and we encourage you to use it so that, together, we will achieve excellence.
