

LUNDS & BYERLYS

Employee Handbook

work safe • live well • play safe • help others

TABLE OF CONTENTS

I.YOUR HANDBOOK..... 4
 An Introduction..... 4
 ii. ABOUT LUND FOOD HOLDINGS, INC..... 4
 Our Vision 4
 Our Mission..... 5
 Our Values 5
 Our History 6
 Media Philosophy 6
 iii. EMPLOYMENT POLICIES..... 6
 Equal Opportunity Employer 6
 Reasonable Accommodation Of Disabilities..... 7
 Immigration Law Compliance 7
 Religious Tolerance..... 8
 Religious Accommodation 8
 Harassment Including Offensive And Inappropriate Behavior 8
 Sexual Harassment 9
 Employment-At-Will 10
 Employee Referrals..... 10
 Employment Of Relatives, Significant Others And Roommates 10
 Ethicspoint 11
 iv. EMPLOYEE RESPONSIBILITY 11
 Standards Of Conduct..... 11
 Age-Restricted Activities..... 15
 Age-Restricted Work Hours 16
 Dress And Grooming..... 16
 Attendance 16
 V. YOUR POSITION AND PAY..... 16
 Hours Of Work And Schedule Flexibility..... 16
 Hours Of Work, Overtime, And Employment Classifications 17
 Job Descriptions..... 17
 Work Schedules 17
 Break Periods And Lunch Periods 17
 Time Clock Use..... 17
 Compensation Philosophy 18
 Payment Of Wages 18
 Payday..... 18
 Direct Deposit 18
 No Tipping..... 18
 Vi. FACILITIES AND SERVICE 19
 Parking Facilities 19
 Breakrooms / Restrooms..... 19
 Tobacco And Smoking Areas 19
 Credit Union..... 19
 United Way 19
 Vii. EMPLOYEE RELATIONS..... 19
 Open-Door Policy..... 19
 Performance Feedback..... 20
 Service Awards..... 20
 Employment Records..... 20
 Communications..... 21

Viii. CAREER DEVELOPMENT, EDUCATION AND TRAINING 21

- Career Development..... 21
- Job Posting..... 21
- Training Opportunities..... 21
- Education Assistance 21
- Scholarship Programs 22

Ix. TIME OFF BENEFITS 22

- Requesting A Leave:..... 22
- Family And Medical Leave Act 22
- Medical Leave 23
- Personal Leave..... 24
- Sick Or Injured Child Care Leave..... 24
- Pregnancy And Parenting Leave 24
- School Conference Leave..... 25
- Military Leave 25
- Returning To Work From An Approved Leave Of Absence..... 25

X. PAID TIME OFF BENEFITS 25

- Calendar Holidays 25
- Paid Time Off For Non-Union Employees 26
- Vacation And Holidays..... 26
- Use Of Paid Time Off And Carry Over 26
- Sick And Safe Time..... 26
- Funeral/Bereavement Leave 26
- Jury Duty Leave..... 26
- Time-Off To Vote 27

Xi. HEALTH AND OTHER BENEFITS 27

- Health Insurance Programs 27
- Cobra Insurance Continuation Program 27
- 401(K) Retirement Savings Programs 28
- Disability Insurance..... 28
- Employee Discount..... 28
- Travel And Expense Reimbursement..... 28

Xii. LEAVING THE COMPANY 28

- Resignation 28
- Retirement..... 28
- Other Types Of Separation 29
- Exit Interviews 29
- Benefit Conversion Options..... 29
- Release Of Employment Information 29
- Dispute Resolution Process (Drp) 29

Xiii. YOUR KEY TO PERSONAL SAFETY AND LOSS PREVENTION 29

- Taking Care Of Yourself And Taking Care Of Others..... 30
- Safety Resources..... 30
- Personal Safety 31
- Environmental Safety 33
- Working With Food..... 37
- Just For You..... 39
- Summary..... 41

I. YOUR HANDBOOK

An Introduction

This handbook is provided to each employee as a guide to the Company's policies and procedures. It is not intended to create, and should not be construed as creating, a contract between the Company and any one or all of its employees. All employees are employed on an at-will basis. At-will employment means that either the Company or the employee can terminate the employment relationship at any time, with or without prior notice, for any reason not otherwise prohibited by law. Any representation to the contrary is not binding on the Company unless it is in writing and is signed by an authorized representative of the Company.

Please read this handbook carefully. It describes many of your responsibilities as an employee and outlines the programs developed by the Company for your benefit. One of our primary objectives for our employees is to create an environment that is conducive to both personal and professional growth. We believe you will find an abundance of resources in this handbook that will help you achieve your personal and professional goals.

Our employee handbook cannot possibly anticipate every circumstance or question that may arise, and it should not be considered as the only or final source of information. It does replace all prior handbooks and related publications previously distributed. As questions arise, we ask that you consult with your manager or a human resources representative for further information about a policy, guideline, or any other information regarding your employment that may or may not be contained in this publication. As we continue to grow, and as our business environment continues to change, there may be a need to change the policies, guidelines, and benefits described in this handbook. As such, we reserve the right to revise, amend, modify, add to, rescind or terminate these policies, guidelines, and benefits at any time and in any manner that we deem appropriate to serve the needs and interests of the Company and its employees.

II. ABOUT LUND FOOD HOLDINGS, INC.

Every Company has its own unique culture, which shapes for each of its employees how it feels to be part of that Company's working family. At Lund Food Holdings, Inc., our culture is a composite of our vision for the Company, our mission statement, and our shared values. A brief introduction of these business philosophies follows and includes insights about their importance in the LFHI workplace and how they are incorporated into our everyday business environments.

OUR VISION

Our vision for the Company identifies what it is we are striving to achieve and what we ultimately want the Company to be. As valued members of our Company's workforce, each of us has the opportunity and a responsibility to direct our personal work activities in support of this vision.

To be the predominant upscale provider of food and services in every market of choice.

OUR MISSION

Our Mission Statement was created by a team of employees shortly after Lunds and Byerlys united. They set out to answer the question “what is it that we do?” You will notice the icon that’s used to convey our Company’s mission looks like a person and an exclamation point is incorporated into the design. The icon signifies the importance of each person in our Company – employees make sensational service happen and employees create what we call the “WOW!” factor. Everyone has a role in this. As you read our mission statement, we ask that you think about what it is that you will do to make our mission come alive.

Together

One Company, two brands (store formats), and the connection of all entities: stores, production facilities and corporate support office.

We

Team, community, caring, and responsibility.

Create

Innovation, synergy, opportunity, delivery, service, empowerment, pride, higher standards, market leadership, and new traditions.

Sensational

Exceed expectations, feeling of “WOW!”, extraordinary, unexpected, and fun.

Shopping Experiences

More than an errand, point of differentiation, world class journey, style, and one-on-one connections.

For a Lifetime

Relationship, retention, ownership, responsibility, bringing them back, families and generations – customers and employees, better each time, every time, all the time.

OUR MISSION

Together we create sensational shopping experiences for a lifetime.

OUR VALUES

Our ability to consistently lead will be guided by our values. We thrive on the power and passion of our employees by enthusiastically encouraging and preparing them to be successful. We judge ourselves by our beliefs and intentions, while others judge us by our behaviors and actions.

The values, which guide our business practices, were identified by the Company’s owner, Tres Lund, and its executive team members. These values represent a set of beliefs and principles that govern the manner in which we work together and the ways in which we conduct our business.

Respect, honesty and integrity, empowerment, innovation, safety, development and communication are Company values that we bring to life by supporting them and practicing them.

Teamwork means collaboration in and with all levels is the key to our success.

“Together Everyone Achieves More.”

Respect means honoring all the diversity in our work environment and includes coworkers, customers, vendors, and our communities. It means consideration of others' feelings, concerns and ideas.

"People with humility don't think less of themselves, they just think about themselves less."

"Sometimes when the numbers look right the decision is still wrong."

Innovation means continually striving to improve our processes, our products, and our quality, and helping our coworkers do their job better.

"Managing only for profit is like trying to play tennis with your eye on the scoreboard and not on the ball."

OUR HISTORY

Both Lunds and Byerlys have a rich history, beginning as Minnesota companies founded by local families. Lunds grew out of a vision that Russell Lund, Sr. had while working at Hove's, a local supermarket back in 1922. He decided to venture out on his own in 1939 and began the business with the first Lunds store on Lake Street in Minneapolis.

Don Byerly, the founder of Byerlys, grew up in a grocery family and opened his first store in Golden Valley in 1968. Both businesses continued to grow and prosper and eventually united as a single Company in 1997.

The new Company, which includes supermarkets, manufacturing facilities and real estate holdings, is owned by the Lund family and is led by Russell T. Lund III (Tres), grandson of founder Russell Lund, Sr.

Lund Food Holdings, Inc. is a dynamic collection of businesses that are poised for growth and continued prosperity for the 21st century and beyond.

MEDIA PHILOSOPHY

It is not uncommon for our Company to be contacted by the media when stories about food products or other public interest events are unfolding. When communicating with the media, it is essential that we speak in one clear voice, meaning that all responses need to be consistent and coordinated from a Company-wide point of view. To assure this consistency, all media inquiries must be referred to your location manager who will pass them on to an officer of the Company. For further information regarding the media, refer to the media policy or contact the corporate support office.

III. EMPLOYMENT POLICIES

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER

Our Company recognizes and values the benefits of diversity in people, ideas and cultures. Accordingly, our Company is committed to being an equal opportunity employer and providing a work environment free from all forms of discrimination for applicants and employees, and reaffirms its adherence to a policy of equal employment opportunity with respect to all persons regardless of race, color, gender, age, religion, national origin, disability, sexual orientation, veteran status, marital status, status with regard to public assistance, military status, gender identity, or any other basis protected by law.

This commitment applies to all policies and procedures relating to all phases of employment including selection, training, promotions, demotions, transfers, discipline, compensation, benefits, layoff, recall, and termination, and all other terms and conditions of employment. This policy applies to all classifications of full-time, part-time, temporary, contract, and on-call part-time employment.

If you believe that you have been subject to unlawful discrimination, or if you witness an activity or process that you believe represents unlawful discrimination, you are responsible to report it to your department manager or general manager immediately, or to human resources.

You can raise concerns and/or make reports regarding discrimination, harassment, and/or equal employment opportunity without fear of reprisal or retaliation. And, you can be assured that your complaint will be investigated promptly, in an objective and confidential manner. Anyone found to be engaging in any type of unlawful discrimination or harassment will be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including separation from employment as determined at management's discretion.

REASONABLE ACCOMMODATION OF DISABILITIES

Our Company is committed to complying with all applicable federal and state law prohibiting discrimination against qualified disabled individuals. It is our policy not to discriminate against any qualified employee or applicant with regard to any terms or conditions of employment because of such individual's disability or perceived disability so long as the employee/applicant can perform the essential functions of the job.

Consistent with this policy of nondiscrimination, we will provide reasonable accommodation to a qualified individual with a disability, as defined by applicable federal and state law, who has made us aware of his or her disability, so that the individual may perform the essential functions of his or her position. The Company will do so provided that such accommodation does not constitute an undue hardship for the Company.

Your medical information is treated confidentially and maintained separately from your personnel file. The Company will take all reasonable precautions to protect such information from inappropriate disclosure. Management and other employees have a responsibility to respect and maintain the confidentiality of all employee medical information. Anyone inappropriately disclosing such information is subject to disciplinary action up to and including termination of employment as determined at management's discretion.

Employees with a disability who believe they need a reasonable accommodation to perform the essential functions of their job should request an accommodation through their management. This policy is neither exhaustive nor exclusive. Again, the Company is committed to taking all actions necessary to ensure equal employment opportunity for persons with disabilities in accordance with all applicable federal, state and local laws.

IMMIGRATION LAW COMPLIANCE

Our Company is committed to employing only United States citizens and non-residents who are authorized to work in the United States. In compliance with the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986, each new employee, as a condition of employment, must complete the Employment Eligibility Verification Form I-9 and present documentation establishing identity and employment eligibility. Former employees who are rehired with the Company must recertify their employment eligibility by completing a new I-9 and provide the appropriate documentation to establish identity and employment eligibility. Questions about immigration law issues may be directed to the human resource department.

RELIGIOUS TOLERANCE

As part of our strong stand and value set with respect to our EEO, discrimination and harassment policies, all of us have an obligation and duty to be proactive, intervening and addressing any acts that may be potentially offensive or inappropriate particularly from a race and/or religious basis. This includes intervening when you hear jokes or comments that could be offensive to certain groups or classes of individuals. It also means being alert to recognizing inappropriate signs or symbols that might be displayed or written on cartons, pallets, walls or in other more obscure areas, taking action by reporting them to your manager so steps can be taken to investigate their origin and to remove them. It also includes recognizing processes, systems, or procedures that might be exclusionary or discriminatory and reporting such to your manager to take action to correct the situation.

The key message is: Be proactive and address issues by reporting them to your manager as you see them occur.

We all are responsible for providing a workplace free from all forms of discrimination, harassment and intolerant acts, while maintaining the highest levels of respect, teamwork and innovation.

RELIGIOUS ACCOMMODATION

For those employees who can provide proof of strongly held religious beliefs, the Company will reasonably accommodate religious-based requests with respect to work schedule, breaks, position assignment, or other work-related activities provided such requests do not impose an undue hardship on the work and/or operational needs of the business.

You are responsible for informing your manager of the need for such religious-based accommodations in writing.

For more information and/or concerns, please see your manager or contact a human resources representative.

HARASSMENT INCLUDING OFFENSIVE AND INAPPROPRIATE BEHAVIOR

All employees have a right to expect and enjoy respectful work environments. Employees are prohibited from harassing other employees whether or not the incidents of harassment occur on employer premises and whether or not the incidents occur during working hours. The Company has a zero tolerance harassment policy and any harassment or offensive or inappropriate behavior may result in corrective action, up to and including termination of employment.

The Company prohibits all sexual and other forms of harassment. Harassment consists of unwelcome conduct, whether verbal, written or physical, that is sexual in nature and/or based upon a person's protected status, such as race, color, religion, gender, national origin, age, disability, marital status, medical condition, veteran status, sexual orientation or other protected status under applicable law.

SEXUAL HARASSMENT

Sexual harassment includes any unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, or visual, verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature when:

- Submission to such conduct is made a term or condition of employment; or
- Submission to or rejection of such conduct is used as a basis for employment decisions affecting the individual; or
- Such conduct has the purpose or effect of unreasonably interfering with an employee's work performance or creating an intimidating, hostile or offensive work environment

Forbidden conduct: With respect to harassment, the following is a partial list of conduct that violates the Lund Food Holdings, Inc. Non-Harassment & Retaliation policy:

- Unwelcome sexual advances
- Offering employment benefits in exchange for sexual favors
- Threatening retaliation or retaliating after a negative response to sexual advances
- Leering, making sexual gestures, or displaying sexually suggestive or offensive objects, photographs, cartoons, calendars or posters
- Transmitting inappropriate, sexual, or offensive images, derogatory posters, cartoons, drawings or information through social media, a computer network, electronic mail, or any other means of communication
- Using obscene, derogatory, or vulgar language, epithets, slurs, sexually explicit or otherwise inappropriate jokes, or making inappropriate or derogatory comments about an employee
- Written communications of a sexual nature or containing statements which may be offensive to individuals in a particular protected group such as racial or ethnic stereotypes or caricatures that are distributed in hard copy, on social media, via a computer network, or any other means of communication
- Unwelcome verbal sexual advances or propositions
- Verbal abuse of a sexual nature such as unwelcome graphic or verbal commentary about an individual's body, sexually degrading words to describe an individual, suggestive or obscene letters, notes or invitations
- Unwelcome physical conduct such as touching, assault, impeding or blocking normal movements
- Retaliation against or toward an individual for making harassment reports to the company or for participating in an investigation into harassment allegations

Retaliation or reprisal against persons making complaints or providing information will not be tolerated. The company strictly prohibits retaliation against any employee for using this complaint procedure, reporting harassment, or for filing, testifying, or participating in any manner in any investigation, or hearing conducted by the company or governmental enforcement agency. Prohibited retaliation includes, but is not limited to, termination, demotion, suspension, failure to hire or consider for hire, failure to give equal consideration in making employment decisions, failure to make employment recommendations impartially, adversely affecting working conditions or otherwise denying any employment benefit. Any employee found to have retaliated against another employee will be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination.

Reporting an Incident: If you experience behavior that is offensive or uncomfortable, or are aware of harassment in the workplace, please advise the person who is initiating such behavior that you find it offensive and ask him or her to stop. If you are uncomfortable confronting the individual directly, or if the behavior persists, you must advise your supervisor or your location manager and a human resources business partner of your concerns.

All complaints will receive immediate attention, including an investigation and any corrective action deemed necessary by the Company to ensure that the harassment and/or offensive behavior stops. All complaints of this nature will be kept confidential with information being disclosed to only those persons who have a legitimate need to know.

All managers must notify the human resources department of any harassment complaints that they receive. All management, together with the human resources department, are responsible for ensuring that appropriate and timely action is taken to investigate harassment complaints and respond with actions that effectively resolve the situation and prevent recurrence of the behavior.

False and malicious complaints of harassment, discrimination, or retaliation (as opposed to complaints that, even if erroneous, are made in good faith) may be subject to appropriate disciplinary action.

EMPLOYMENT-AT-WILL

All employees are employees-at-will except as otherwise provided through a union contract or an employment agreement signed by an officer of the Company. This means that the employment relationship is non-contractual, for no fixed period of time, and is terminable at any time by either you as the employee or the Company as your employer at any time, for any reason, with or without cause, and with or without notice. No manager or any representative of the Company, other than an officer of the Company, has the authority to enter into any agreement with you for employment for any specified period, or to make any promises or commitments that are contrary to the employment-at-will policy. Any such agreements entered into by an officer of the Company must be in writing and signed by the officer.

EMPLOYEE REFERRALS

We often find that our own employees are our best source of potential employees and as such we appreciate and encourage employee referrals. Our employee referral program provides you with the opportunity to earn a bonus (less applicable taxes) for every employee that you refer that becomes employed by the Company. Check with your location manager for specific information regarding the referral program.

EMPLOYMENT OF RELATIVES, SIGNIFICANT OTHERS AND ROOMMATES

Family members, significant others, and roommates are a good source of referrals and future employees. All are welcome to apply for and accept employment with the Company. However, to reduce the intrusion of domestic relations in our work environment, we ask that immediate family members, significant others and roommates avoid working in the same department whenever possible, and we prohibit family members, significant others and roommates from working in positions where one is the direct supervisor or manager of the other. When such cases occur, the Company will attempt accommodation through transfer, relocation, or job change. In such situations, the affected employees will need to decide which remedy they will select. An exception is made for periods of less than twenty-nine (29) calendar days where relatives may work together to satisfy short-term, temporary needs of the business.

ETHICSPPOINT

EthicsPoint is a comprehensive and confidential reporting tool for employees to report fraud, abuse and other misconduct in the workplace in a completely confidential and anonymous manner. You can file an EthicsPoint report from any computer that can access the Internet at the following website: www.lundfoodholdings.ethics-point.com. You can file online from home and many public locations, including public libraries. If you don't have access or are uncomfortable using a computer, call the EthicsPoint toll-free hotline – 1-866-437-4478. It's available 24 hours a day, 365 days a year.

Nothing in our policies, guidelines or handbook is meant to restrict any activity that is protected under the National Labor Relations Act (NLRA).

IV. EMPLOYEE RESPONSIBILITY

STANDARDS OF CONDUCT

It is important that employees understand that their conduct is a reflection on our Company. We expect that all employees conduct themselves in alignment with our Company values and demonstrate integrity and trust at all times. The following represents an overview of what we call standards of conduct, and are examples of conduct that will interfere with the productivity of our operations and the safety and security of our employees. Although the Company firmly supports the concept of progressive discipline, conduct of this type may result in disciplinary action up to and including termination of employment at the discretion of management. This list is not intended to be all inclusive or represent all possible examples of unacceptable behavior; rather it is intended to provide examples of the types of behavior that could jeopardize the employment relationship. For more information, contact your manager or a human resources business partner.

Rudeness to a customer

As a Company, we base all of our decisions on what is best for the customer. We are absolutely committed to providing sensational service, treating every customer with respect and dignity, and in a considerate and friendly manner. If you find yourself in a challenging customer situation that you believe you are unprepared to handle, it is your responsibility to contact a manager for assistance. Failure to treat any customer with respect and dignity and in a considerate manner is inexcusable and will not be tolerated.

Not reporting for or completing a scheduled shift

When you miss a scheduled shift, arrive late, or leave early, our customer service is in jeopardy. You are expected to be reliable and to be punctual in reporting for scheduled work. To minimize the disruption caused by an unplanned absence, it is absolutely essential that you contact your manager as far in advance of your shift as possible.

Failure to notify a manager of an absence or secure approval to leave early in advance of your shift is inexcusable and will not be tolerated and may result in an unexcused absence and disciplinary action.

If you are absent from work for two (2) consecutive working days without proper notification to your supervisor/manager, you will be considered as having abandoned your job and resigned employment. Job abandonment will also occur when you fail to return to work or directly notify your supervisor or manager of the reason for absence within two (2) consecutive working days after any approved leave of absence or disciplinary suspension.

For more information, please review the attendance policy and/or speak with your manager.

Misappropriation of money or property...theft

Taking money, products, supplies or other forms of Company, customer, or employee property is forbidden. Additionally, a receipt must accompany all product purchases, and no product can be consumed without paying for it first. When consuming a product in a retail store, the receipt must be visible to show proof of purchase. Failure to adhere to these procedures can cost you your job, and prosecution by local law enforcement officials is possible.

Failure to provide an accurate account of time actually worked that results in payment for time not worked is considered theft and could cost you your job.

Working off the clock

We value the work that you do and it's important to us that we compensate you for all work that you perform in your position. Therefore, we have provided you with multiple tools that you may use to accurately report all time spent performing any and all work. We expect that you will use these tools accurately and consistently. Performing work without reporting the time as time worked will not be tolerated and could cost you your job.

Alcohol, drugs and other intoxicants

You may not possess, be under the influence of, or use any alcohol or illegal drugs, including inappropriate use of over-the-counter and/or prescription medications or other intoxicants while on the job. This behavior represents a safety hazard and will not be tolerated. In no case is any employee allowed to report to work or return to work while under the influence of alcohol or illegal drugs, including inappropriate use of over-the-counter and/or prescription medications, or other intoxicants.

We encourage any employee with an alcohol or drug dependency problem to voluntarily enter a drug or alcohol rehabilitation program before the problem affects or jeopardizes their employment. Employees who violate this policy are subject to discipline despite participation in a program or a request for assistance. Further, to help ensure a safe and healthful working environment, employees may be asked to submit to drug testing to determine the illicit or illegal use of drugs and/or unauthorized use of alcohol. Refusal to submit to drug testing may result in disciplinary action up to and including termination of employment. Any such test will be at the Company's expense and by a physician and/or testing facility selected by the Company and in full compliance with state and federal law.

If you are under a physician's guidance and are taking prescription drugs or other medication which may affect your ability to work safely, you should not perform your job duties if doing so will pose a threat to your own safety or the safety of others. You must review this with your manager.

Fighting, threatening or violent behavior

Lund Food Holdings, Inc. prohibits all forms of violence including, but not limited to, any verbal or physical threats or threatening behavior or other behavior intended to cause or causing apprehension on the part of another employee or customer. Fighting or other acts of threatening or violent behavior that is threatening to yourself or others or results in injury to yourself or others or damage to property will not be tolerated. If a disagreement arises, or you witness, receive, or have been told that another person has witnessed or received such acts of behavior, you are responsible for contacting a manager immediately to resolve the situation. Do not engage in argumentative behavior or violent behavior. This policy is strictly enforced. Violations may result in disciplinary action up to and including termination of employment and criminal prosecution of those involved.

Firearms and weapons

Possession of firearms or weapons while at work or on Company property is strictly prohibited and will serve as grounds for disciplinary action up to and including termination of employment. Further, if any individual violates this policy and refuses to comply, it will result in immediate notification of the proper law enforcement authorities. This prohibition applies to all employees, vendors, temporary workers and contractors, including those who have a valid permit to carry a handgun pursuant to the Conceal and Carry law. The only exception authorized by management would be hired security.

The Company also reserves the right to search and inspect property, including purchases and lockers, and persons on Company property, and while operating Company machinery, equipment or vehicles for work-related business, and while conducting Company business off premises.

Intentional misuse, damage, or destruction of property

We recognize that from time-to-time something may drop or break unintentionally, and we would ask that you take the time to use all Company property and equipment with care. Negligence or intentionally destructive acts that result in damage to Company property, or other employees' or customers' possessions, equipment, or property will not be tolerated.

Return of Company property

You are responsible for all property, materials, equipment or written information issued to you or in your possession or control. All Company property must be returned by employees on or before their last day of work. When permitted by applicable law, the Company may withhold from your paycheck or final paycheck the cost of any items that are not returned when required. In addition, the Company may take legal action deemed appropriate to recover and/or protect its property.

Falsification of employment records, time records, or other Company records and transactions

Your honesty and integrity are essential and required. Be sure to accurately record and represent all information in all transactions that you complete as part of your work with our Company. Be truthful and forthright in your dealings with your manager, customers, coworkers, and business associates. Dishonesty will not be tolerated, and falsification of Company records and transactions can result in disciplinary action, up to and including termination.

Disclosure of confidential information

Disclosing confidential information about a coworker, a customer or the Company is forbidden. Discussing financial, proprietary, competitive or any other confidential information about the Company with individuals or such information about other employees and/or customers, other than those who are authorized to have access to such information and have a legitimate business need and right to know, is strictly prohibited. Note that there are positions which require certification in keeping certain employee/customer information confidential.

Integrity & Trust

The Company's goal is to achieve success by continuing to provide products and services to our customers that exceed expectations and are of the highest value.

We expect every employee to adhere to the highest standards of personal and professional integrity and to avoid any situation that might reflect unfavorably on the Company. Our professional business goals are important and demanding, but ethical standards must take precedence. We seek to encourage free enterprise and comply with all laws that prohibit unfair or unethical business practices. Compliance with the letter of the law is only our minimum standard; we have always sought to and will continue to seek adherence to its spirits as well.

Lund Food Holdings, Inc. employees are expected to fully comply with all applicable laws, rules and regulations wherever they do business. Employees may not use a consultant, broker or other third party to do anything they are prohibited from doing themselves. Ignorance of the law, demands of the business, and pressure from co-workers are not excuses for violating the law.

Selling liquor or tobacco to under-age customers

Our Company abides by all laws governing the sale of age restricted products such as alcohol, tobacco and tobacco related products. Under no circumstances will the Company tolerate any employee selling liquor to any customer who is under age 21 or tobacco and/or tobacco related products to any customer who is under age 18. It is your responsibility to know and comply with the law—we cannot over emphasize the importance of this—you can be subject to costly fines, legal fees and lose your job for failure to comply with these regulations. Note that our registers are programmed for ages and age calendars are at each service counter.

Non-solicitation

Solicitation, posting or distribution of material, handbills, printed or written literature of any kind, including internet or phone communications, by an employee to another employee is prohibited during working time and in all employee working areas. Working time does not include non-work time such as , scheduled breaks and the time before and after a shift. Individuals who are not employees of the Company may not solicit, post or distribute on Company property at any time, whether or not the property consists of a work area or non-work area.

Failure to follow a supervisor's or manager's work direction

Teamwork is essential to provide our customers with sensational service each and every time they shop. When a supervisor or manager asks you to do something, it is your responsibility to carry out that assignment in a professional and timely manner. If you disagree with a supervisor's or manager's instructions, we ask that you carry out the instructions providing they are not unlawful or in violation of a Company policy, and at first opportunity, take your concerns to the next higher level of management for further discussion.

Computer usage

The Company provides its employees with a variety of resources so that employees may perform their jobs. These resources and any files, materials, documents and/or data transmitted by or stored in or on them, are the sole property of Lund Food Holdings, Inc. and are intended for business use. As a general principle, we encourage all employees to effectively utilize the technology that is available through the Company to enhance both personal and professional effectiveness. As you access and utilize our technology, we ask that you commit to applying the same level of professionalism that is expected in all workplace communications. Any personal or other use the Company deems inappropriate or excessive may result in discipline up to and including termination at the discretion of the Company.

E-mail you send and receive or internet sites you access are subject to the same business professionalism that would be applied to any form of written or spoken communication that occurs at work. Manage personal utilization so as not to disrupt your work or diminish productivity. Restrict personal e-mail or internet/intranet access to non-work hours such as breaks or meal periods, and to subject matter that is appropriate to the business environment. Employees must not engage in any computer-related conduct that violates the law, violates any Company policy, reflects poorly upon employees and/or the Company, is inconsistent with the Company's interests or incurs any cost to the Company. Inappropriate use includes, but is not limited to, copying, transmitting or accessing pornographic or otherwise offensive pictures, materials or messages; insensitive jokes; defamatory comments or materials; virus propagation; or other abuse or misuse of Company equipment and other resources. Employees also should not send, receive or transmit by any means copyrighted materials, trade secrets, confidential or proprietary information, financial information, or other such information without prior authorization.

The nature of e-mail sometimes causes users to act as though they are engaged in a face-to-face conversation and, consequently, causes users to be casual or careless in their communication. E-mail is not a face-to-face conversation and it is not private. E-mail results in a documented record that can be printed, shared with others, and retrieved months or years later, even if it has been deleted. Accordingly, employees should use the same care and good judgment in their e-mail that they would use in any written communication.

The Company reserves the right to inspect, monitor, review, retain, disclose, and/or use (collectively referred to as "access") computers, documents, e-mail messages (both incoming and outgoing), and files (both computer and paper) in its sole discretion, notwithstanding any employee's use of passwords. Any e-mail, information, files, data, or other material or property of any kind inspected, accessed or monitored by the Company may be disclosed and/or used as the Company deems appropriate.

Computer software that is provided by the Company is the property of the Company and should be used for business purposes. Only software purchased and installed by an information services representative can be used on Company computers. To avoid illegal reproduction and use of Company software applications, no Company-owned software can be taken home to be used on personal computers unless an information services representative has given prior written authorization. Periodic audits will be conducted to ensure that the Company is in compliance with software licensing agreements and that no unauthorized use of Company owned or personal software is occurring.

Computer hardware that is provided by the Company is the property of the Company and should remain on the premises and used for business purposes only. Laptop computer workstations are portable and may be taken off the premises as needed to complete business activities.

Selecting a personal computer password that cannot be easily guessed by anyone else and changing passwords frequently are important steps that you can take to protect the security of your personal and our corporate computer files. Do not reveal your password to anyone or allow anyone to observe you entering your password. Any written record of your password should be kept hidden. Ensure that your workstation is reasonably secure in your absence. Please log off or lock your computer when you leave the room.

For further clarification, please review the Computer Usage Policy, or contact an information services or human resources representative.

AGE-RESTRICTED ACTIVITIES

If you are under 18 years of age the law prohibits you from selling tobacco or liquor, operating compactors, balers, slicers, saws, mixers, grinders and driving delivery vehicles. Additionally, you cannot clean machinery including slicers or change cooking oil. If you are under 16, in addition to the prohibited activities listed above, the law prohibits you from unloading trucks, working in freezers, working on ladders, cooking, or operating pallet jacks.

AGE-RESTRICTED WORK HOURS

If you are under 16 you can work between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. during the school year and until 9 p.m. during the non-school summer months. You can work up to 3 hours on a school day and not more than 18 hours during a school week. During the non-school summer months you can work up to 8 hours per day and not more than 40 hours each week. If you are between 16 and 17 years of age, you may not work after 11 p.m. or before 5 a.m. on an evening or morning preceding a school day.

DRESS AND GROOMING

We are known for having the most informed and professional employees. Your dress, grooming and personal hygiene play a key role in creating a positive impression with our customers and the members of the communities we serve. For that reason, considerable care goes into our uniform selection and dress and grooming standards. Each facility has specific dress and grooming guidelines and most have specific uniform requirements. Your location manager or department manager will provide you with information that covers the dress and grooming requirements in your area. For a more detailed overview, you can refer to the dress and grooming policy.

ATTENDANCE

We understand that there may sometimes be occurrences—both planned and unplanned—that may cause you to be late, need to leave early, or even miss a scheduled shift. When this occurs, we expect you to notify your manager as far in advance of your shift as possible so other coverage arrangements can be made. Unreliable attendance will compromise our service levels and may ultimately impact your continued employment with the Company. For more information and specific details, please see the attendance policy.

The preceding examples were designed to provide some guidance as to the nature of things that may jeopardize your employment with the Company. Although the Company firmly supports the concept of progressive discipline, it does retain the right to take disciplinary action appropriate to the particular circumstance up to and including immediate termination. The list is not all-inclusive and does not represent a complete list of Company policies. For further information, contact your manager or a human resources business partner.

V. YOUR POSITION AND PAY

HOURS OF WORK AND SCHEDULE FLEXIBILITY

Much of our Company operates seven days a week. As such, you will find a variety of work schedules exist, both in time of day and number of hours worked in a week. In retail, office and production facilities, you will find part-time and full-time schedules that range from traditional to unique. We encourage you to openly discuss your work schedule preferences with your department manager so he/she can assist you in finding a schedule that meets your needs as well as the Company's needs.

HOURS OF WORK, OVERTIME, AND EMPLOYMENT CLASSIFICATIONS

Hours of work, overtime, and employment classifications are explained in detail in the LFHI non-union benefits summary or your applicable union contract. Note that for overtime purposes, the work week is defined as Monday through Sunday, or as noted per your Union contract. Questions regarding hours of work, overtime, and employment classifications should be directed to your location manager or the human resource department.

JOB DESCRIPTIONS

Job descriptions are available for many positions. They contain valuable information about a position's purpose, essential functions and primary responsibilities. Ask your manager for a copy of the job description for your position. As your position changes and evolves, be sure to note those changes on the job description and advise your manager so revisions can be made.

WORK SCHEDULES

In most retail and production facilities the work schedules will be posted in advance. If you would like to request a change in your work schedule, you will need to notify your manager one week prior to the posting of the new schedule. Complete consideration will be given to all scheduling requests in conjunction with consideration for the needs of the business.

Work schedules for office positions will be communicated to you by your manager. These work schedules generally remain consistent from week to week. If you would like to change your work schedule, please discuss it with your manager as early as possible. Your request will receive consideration along with consideration for the coverage and production needs of the department.

BREAK PERIODS

The Company provides all employees with the opportunity to enjoy paid break periods and unpaid break periods. Since we have employees who work a variety of shifts, both full and part-time, specific break assignments will be communicated to you by your manager. To avoid service interruptions, it is important for everyone to closely adhere to their scheduled break periods.

TIME CLOCK USE

If you are in a position that is paid by the hour, you will be asked to record your time by using a time clock or other timekeeping device. All hours worked must be recorded on the time clock or timekeeping device; working off the clock is not allowed. It is important that you clock in slightly prior to the start of your shift so you are ready to work at your scheduled start time. Advance approval from your manager is required if you plan on working hours other than those that have been scheduled for you.

To assure that there is no interruption in customer service, we ask that you do not leave your work area to clock out until the time that your scheduled shift ends. If you work in a retail or production facility where continuing operations are essential, please do not leave your work area unattended if there is no one to relieve you; rather, call a manager for assistance. It is important that you follow accurate timekeeping procedures for starting and ending times as well as paid rest breaks and unpaid breaks. Your manager will explain this process in greater detail.

Your time record indicates what you believe to be an accurate account of the schedule and hours that you have worked in a given pay period. Misrepresenting your hours in any way, falsifying your time record, allowing someone else to clock in or out for you, or clocking in or out for someone else is strictly prohibited and will result in disciplinary action up to and including termination of employment. If you have any questions about timekeeping, please discuss them with your department manager or location manager.

COMPENSATION PHILOSOPHY

We are committed to providing a wage level that is equal to or greater than the prevailing wage rate in the community for similar jobs. As part of that commitment, we are constantly evaluating wage levels for all positions and comparing them to prevailing wages in our community. All positions have assigned wage ranges either through union contracts or our LFHI compensation program. Questions concerning wage levels can be brought to your location manager or the human resource department.

PAYMENT OF WAGES

Our payroll department creates several thousand paychecks each pay cycle. To accomplish this important responsibility, they must have accurate and complete pay record information from every employee. If you have an address change, name change, marital status change, change in withholdings or any other change that would affect your paycheck, please update your information within the MyLFHI website. If you receive a paycheck that is inaccurate, return it to your manager so the error can be corrected and a new check issued.

PAYDAY

We are paid every two weeks on Friday for the work performed in the preceding two weeks. The longest period of time that a new employee would wait for a paycheck would be three weeks. This would occur if you started during the second week of a pay-period. In that case you would work the week you started and the next two weeks. The check that you receive at the end of your third week would represent wages for the time worked during the preceding two weeks.

DIRECT DEPOSIT

We offer a direct deposit service to our employees. This enables you to have your pay automatically deposited. On payday, you will receive an earnings statement within the MyLFHI site which itemizes your gross pay, deductions and withholdings and lists your net pay. Instead of receiving a check, the money will already be in your designated account on the date of the payday, available for your use at the start of business on payday morning. Contact your manager or location manager for more information about this service.

NO TIPPING

Though our customers are generous and can be persistent in wanting to give a monetary tip, the Company has a strict no tipping practices for all positions except restaurant servers and catering employees. It is expected you would politely and respectfully decline and remind our customers that, "this is a complimentary service, and it is my pleasure to provide you with this service. There is no need to tip."

VI. FACILITIES AND SERVICE

PARKING FACILITIES

Parking is available at or around each worksite. Many of our facilities share parking with customers or other tenants; there will be areas designated for employee parking. Your manager will advise you on the exact location of employee parking for your worksite. It is very important that you park in designated employee parking areas only.

BREAKROOMS / RESTROOMS

Each facility is equipped with clean and comfortable breakrooms and restrooms for your use. Consumption of food or beverages is not allowed in any place other than the break room. For further information about the location and use of breakrooms and restrooms, please consult your manager.

TOBACCO AND SMOKING AREAS

All facilities that we operate are tobacco and smoke-free. Tobacco use and smoking is permitted in designated areas outside of each facility during scheduled breaks and meal periods only. For information concerning the outdoor area designated for tobacco use and smoking at your facility, please consult your manager.

CREDIT UNION

As an employee of the Company, you are eligible to participate in the Share Point Credit Union. This full service credit union offers a wide variety of services including savings and checking accounts, loans and credit cards. Payroll deduction services are available for both savings and loan accounts with the Retail Employees Credit Union. For more information, you may contact the credit union directly at (952) 930-0700.

UNITED WAY

You can conveniently contribute to the United Way through our payroll deduction program. In the "New Hire Forms" you received, there is an easy one page pledge form to fill out in order to give to the United Way. During our fundraising campaign each year, you will receive a pledge card and have the opportunity to designate your gift to this important cause. For more information, please see the campaign coordinator at your location.

VII. EMPLOYEE RELATIONS

OPEN-DOOR POLICY

We believe that maintaining open lines of communication between all employees is essential to objectively consider employee suggestions, resolve differences, and provide for the general well-being of the employees and the Company. In support of this commitment, we maintain an open-door policy which provides the opportunity for any employee to ask questions directly of their supervisor, department head, store manager, general manager, any member of the management team and/or any human resources representative at any time, about anything, and receive a response. You can be assured that the Company will constructively work to earn and maintain your respect by giving your individual needs consideration and review.

Members of management and human resources have the responsibility to respond quickly and clearly to any questions asked of them to ensure clarity and understanding throughout the Company, and to the extent reasonably possible and in its discretion, to preserve the confidentiality of the open-door process. Every employee is encouraged to take full advantage of this right, without fear of reprisal or retaliation. When you do have a question or concern, your supervisor is in the best position to respond quickly and accurately and should generally be the first person that you approach. However, if you are uncomfortable addressing the concern with your supervisor or if you want further clarification, you are free to speak with any other management person in our Company regardless of title.

PERFORMANCE FEEDBACK

Performance feedback comes in many forms, from an informal discussion with your manager to a more formalized goal setting process. Performance feedback is an essential component of a healthy work environment.

The orientation follow-up provides an opportunity for a new employee or newly promoted employee to discuss job performance, job satisfaction, training needs and performance goals with his/her manager. It is an excellent time to clarify priorities, realign training, and/or acquire a greater understanding about the job, the department and the Company.

Performance and development feedback provide you with the opportunity to review your accomplishments and establish goals. These discussions help ensure that your priorities are aligned with your department's priorities and the Company's priorities. These discussions are also an excellent time to review your personal career objectives and training needs with your manager. Please be open and candid during these discussions, as this will help you and your manager build a positive working relationship.

Informal feedback should occur throughout the year and can occur at any time. Do not hesitate to ask your manager for a meeting to review your performance. You can prepare for this meeting by writing down some questions or topics that you would like to discuss with your manager in advance of the meeting.

SERVICE AWARDS

Your continued service with the Company is highly valued and will be recognized with a selection of gifts beginning on your five-year anniversary with the Company and every five years thereafter. On your anniversary, your manager will present you with an award and your gift will be mailed to your home address. When celebrating fifteen years of service or greater, your award will be presented at a special service recognition luncheon hosted by an executive officer of the Company.

EMPLOYMENT RECORDS

The Company maintains employment files for each employee. These files contain pay record information such as current withholdings, wage rates, and your employment application. It also contains benefit information, including beneficiary designations and performance information such as performance appraisals, commendations and disciplinary notices. Access to these files is limited to management personnel who have a legitimate reason to review data contained in the file.

You may review the contents and/or request a copy of your employment file once every six months. Your written request will be responded to within seven (7) working days. If you dispute any information contained in your file, you may submit a written statement for inclusion in your file explaining your position. After you leave employment with the Company, you may review your file once annually via written request to the human resource department for as long as we maintain your records.

By asserting your rights as noted above, there is no retaliation on the part of the Company. If you have any questions concerning access to your employment records, please contact a human resources representative.

COMMUNICATIONS

The online communications are a way to stay informed of Company news. They will tell you about current happenings in the Company. You will find information which contains employee promotions and transfers throughout the Company.

VIII. CAREER DEVELOPMENT, EDUCATION AND TRAINING

CAREER DEVELOPMENT

We take great pride in our commitment to employee development and advancement. Most of our senior positions are filled through the internal advancement of our employees. Talk to any of your coworkers or managers and you are likely to hear that they started in an entry-level position and worked their way through a variety of jobs in the Company. We have a number of important programs to help you achieve your career goals.

JOB POSTING

You have the opportunity to view openings throughout the Company through the internal job-posting program. Check the posting board in your breakroom for current openings. You can apply for those positions for which you qualify by completing a posting application form.

To be considered for a posted position, you must meet the basic qualifications for the job and have a satisfactory or better performance record in your current position. On occasion, you may find that some positions may not be posted due to union seniority requirements or to accommodate an employee who is returning from a leave or related situation.

Please see the job postings policy and/or your manager for more information.

TRAINING OPPORTUNITIES

Our training includes a wide variety of skill-building programs ranging from leadership and team building to safe food handling and evening manager programs. Look for training programs and schedules online for more complete information. Let your manager know if there are programs that you would like to participate in to enhance your skills in your current position or help prepare you for expanded duties and/or other positions, including mentoring, with the Company.

We encourage our employees to seek out and develop mentoring relationships with others in the organization who can help them enhance their skills and achieve their career goals.

EDUCATION ASSISTANCE

Continuing education is an activity that we encourage and applaud. In support of our employees who are pursuing continuing education, we offer a generous tuition reimbursement program. Full-time and part-time employees who have completed a minimum of ninety (90) days of employment, are eligible for tuition assistance. For more information, please review the tuition reimbursement program brochure or contact the human resource department.

SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAMS

The Russell T. Lund Scholarship Program was established by the founder's family as a benefit to employees and their immediate family members. The program provides a limited number of scholarship awards to selected employees and/or their immediate family members. Please refer to the Russell T. Lund scholarship brochure to learn more about this benefit and the eligibility, application and selection process, or call the human resource department for more information.

The Minnesota Grocers Association Foundation has an established scholarship program to achieve a number of highly desirable objectives. First, it recognizes and aids deserving students who are related to Minnesota's food industry by virtue of their parents' employment or their own part-time employment by companies which are members of the Minnesota Grocers Association (MGA). Second, it helps deserving students with some college expenses. Third, it indirectly aids the colleges attended by the recipients, and fourth, it improves the morale of the employees of companies which are members of the MGA. Please refer to the General Information for the MGA which is posted each January or call the human resource department for more information.

IX. TIME OFF BENEFITS

We recognize that there may be times when personal or medical reasons create a need for you to be away from work for an extended period of time. In such situations, the Company has a variety of leave programs that may offer you the opportunity to take your leave while maintaining your employment with the Company. The information on these pages provides a brief description of the various leave of absence programs. For more information consult the leave of absence policy, your manager and/or union contract.

REQUESTING A LEAVE:

To apply for a leave, the employee must notify his or her manager and The Hartford. The Company requests all leaves be initiated 30 days in advance of the leave providing the need for leave was foreseeable. Medical related leaves require a physician's statement certifying the reason for the request and may require periodic updates throughout the leave period.

FAMILY AND MEDICAL LEAVE ACT

The Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) provides employees with the opportunity to take up to 12 weeks of unpaid leave of absence when necessary as a result of the birth or the placement through adoption or foster care of a child and the care for such child, or a serious health condition affecting the employee or certain members of his/her immediate family. The 12 weeks of FML may be taken once in a 12 month period providing a qualifying event occurs. The 12 month leave period is a rolling 12 months, measured backward from the date FML was last taken. Eligibility for FML requires 12 months of service working a minimum of 1,250 hours during the 12 month period immediately before the requested leave begins.

An employee is required to provide the Company and The Hartford with notice of the need for FML 30 calendar days in advance, or as soon as is practical.

During an FML, the Company continues to pay the employer's portion of your medical, dental and life insurance benefits. Retirement contributions are suspended during an FML, as are all other benefits such as vacation, PTO and holidays. Your union contract or the LFHI non-union benefits summary will provide further information regarding the impact of FML on vacation, holidays, personal holidays, and PTO benefits. In addition, you will be able to substitute earned paid leave during the unpaid portion of your FML leave.

The Hartford will require a physician's statement certifying the reason for the FML request and may require periodic updates throughout the leave period. The Hartford may require recertification on a reasonable basis in compliance with the law. If The Hartford has reason to doubt the validity of the certification, it may require, at the Company's expense, that a second opinion be obtained from a health care provider of its choosing. If the second opinion differs from the opinion in the original certification, then The Hartford may require, at the Company's expense, that you obtain the opinion of a third health care provider designated or approved jointly by you and the Company. The opinion of the third health care provider shall be final and binding.

At the end of your FML, the Company will restore you to the position you held before your leave started or to an equivalent position, except as provided under applicable law. In addition, while you are on FML, The Hartford and the Company may require you to periodically report on your status and intention to return to work.

Typically, when you are on FML, you may not engage in other work or employment. In rare cases we may allow this, but you must have prior approval from both your supervisor or manager and human resources. If you engage in other work or employment during your leave without prior approval from your supervisor or manager and human resources, you will be considered to have violated the terms of your leave and to have voluntarily terminated your employment.

Employees who elect not to return to work upon expiration of their FML will be required to reimburse the Company for employer-paid benefit contributions, and their employment will be terminated as of the date of FML expiration unless the employee is on an approved medical or personal leave. For more information, please contact your location manager or human resource representative.

MEDICAL LEAVE

A medical leave of absence will be granted to employees who are restricted from working due to a disabling illness or injury upon receipt of sufficient information from a medical provider that verifies the disabling condition and the need for medical leave. The length of leave will be governed by medical necessity as determined by a physician's certification. The employee may be asked to provide periodic medical status reports referencing his/her current work restrictions and the Company may require the employee to return to work if work within the employee's restrictions is available.

Insurance and retirement programs are suspended during a medical leave of absence except for periods of medical leave that are also covered by FML, whereby the employer's portion of medical, dental and life insurance premiums will continue to be paid. When FML is not available, the opportunity to continue insurance coverage will be made available at the employee's cost in accordance with the terms and conditions of COBRA.

As with FML, The Hartford may require recertification on a reasonable basis in compliance with the law. If The Hartford has reason to doubt the validity of the certification, it may require, at the Company's expense, that you obtain the opinion of a second health care provider of its choosing. If the second opinion differs from the opinion in the original certification, then The Hartford may require, at the Company's expense, that you obtain the opinion of a third health care provider designated or approved jointly by you and the Company. The opinion of the third health care provider shall be final and binding.

Vacation, holiday, personal holiday, and PTO benefits are not accrued during a medical leave of absence except for those that may be covered under FML, when the FML period runs concurrently with the medical leave of absence period. Employment with the Company will be terminated if the medical leave of absence extends beyond 12 months unless otherwise stated in the union contract. While medical leaves of absence are unpaid, some of our positions offer short and/or long-term disability or income replacement coverage. To learn more about these options, refer to your LFHI non-union benefit summary or applicable union contract.

PERSONAL LEAVE

Personal leaves of absence are unpaid leaves and may be granted for employees requesting an extended period away from the job due to compelling personal reasons. Personal leaves must be requested in writing and submitted in advance to your department manager or location manager, then contact The Hartford. Consideration will be given to all personal leave requests and providing the business and coverage issues can be met with no interruption of service or additional cost incurred, every effort will be made to accommodate the request. Vacation, holiday, personal holiday, and personal time off (PTO) benefits are not accrued during a personal leave of absence. Medical and related insurance programs as well as all retirement programs are suspended during a personal leave of absence. COBRA coverage for continuing insurance will be made available at the employee's cost. All benefits will be reinstated upon return from an approved personal leave of absence. The maximum length of personal leave is explained in the LFHI non-union benefit summary or applicable union contract.

SICK OR INJURED CHILD CARE LEAVE

An eligible employee is allowed to use his/her sick leave and/or PTO benefits for absences due to the illness or injury of the employee's child on the same terms the employee is able to use the sick leave and PTO benefits for his/her own illness or injury. To be eligible, you must be employed at least 12 consecutive months immediately preceding the request, and have worked an average number of hours per week equal to at least one-half the equivalent of a full-time employee in the same job classification. When the need for this leave is foreseeable, you must provide reasonable prior notice to your manager. For more information, please see your location manager or speak with a human resources representative.

PREGNANCY AND PARENTING LEAVE

An employee who has worked for the Company for at least 12 months preceding a request for pregnancy or parenting leave and who has worked an average of 20 hours per week or more during the 12 months preceding such a leave request is eligible for leave related to the birth or adoption of a child, and, in the case of a female employee, for prenatal care or incapacity due to pregnancy, childbirth, or related conditions. Such female employees are also eligible for reasonable accommodations for health conditions related to pregnancy or childbirth.

The employee must contact The Hartford to request such leave concurrent with their FML or medical leave. The Hartford will notify the employee and location representative in writing if the leave is approved or denied.

SCHOOL CONFERENCE LEAVE

An eligible employee has up to 16 hours during the 12 month period beginning September 1 and ending August 31 to attend school conferences or school-related activities related to the employee's child, provided the conferences or the school-related activities cannot be scheduled during non-work hours. If the employee's child receives child care services or attends a pre-kindergarten regular or special education program, you may use this leave time to attend a conference or activity related to your child or to observe the services, provided that the activity cannot be scheduled during non-work hours. When the need for this leave is foreseeable, you must provide reasonable prior notice to your manager. This leave is not paid but you have the right to substitute any earned paid leave for any part of the approved leave request.

MILITARY LEAVE

An employee may take time off from work to fulfill annual military training obligations. Employees called into active duty will be placed on an unpaid leave, and upon their release from active duty, will be reinstated to the same or similar position in accordance with the federal law. Vacation, holiday, personal holiday, and PTO benefits are not accrued during a military leave of absence. Medical and related insurance programs as well as all retirement programs are suspended during a military leave of absence. COBRA coverage for continuing insurance will be made available at the employee's cost. Re-employment and all benefits will be reinstated upon return from an approved military leave of absence in full compliance with the federal law.

RETURNING TO WORK FROM AN APPROVED LEAVE OF ABSENCE

You must be available to return to work on the first scheduled day following the expiration of your leave of absence. You must also have your return to work documentation completed prior to your return. Failure to return from leave as scheduled will result in termination of employment unless other arrangements were made between you and your manager in advance of the expiration of the leave.

It is the Company's intent to accommodate an employee who is returning from an approved leave by restoring them to the same, or an equivalent, position with equivalent benefits, pay and other terms and conditions of employment held prior to his or her leave. Please note, changes in the business climate that result in restructuring, job elimination, layoffs, etc., may prohibit such accommodation from occurring.

X. PAID TIME OFF BENEFITS

CALENDAR HOLIDAYS

A number of paid holidays are provided for eligible employees. These include New Year's Day, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day, and Christmas Day, and for non-union full-time employees four hours of holiday pay for Christmas Eve. Please note we are not open on Easter Sunday. You may elect to use your earned time-off to receive pay for that day. Our retail and production facilities may be operating on some of these holidays. In those situations, your manager will provide further details about holiday pay and work schedules. For specific information about holiday pay and eligibility, please consult your applicable union contract or the LFHI non-union benefit summary.

PAID TIME OFF FOR NON-UNION EMPLOYEES

Our LFHI non-union benefit package provides a paid time off benefit (PTO) that begins following the first month of employment. Under this program, you earn a specified number of hours for each month that you work for the Company. This time can be taken as it is earned or accumulated throughout the year. Your LFHI non-union benefit summary provides specific details covering PTO eligibility and earning levels.

VACATION AND HOLIDAYS

Each union contract contains provisions for paid time-off under the vacation and floating/personal holiday benefit. Please refer to your applicable union contract to learn more about eligibility and earning levels for each of these benefits.

USE OF PAID TIME OFF AND CARRY OVER

Calendar holidays and floating/personal holidays must be used in the year that they are earned. Vacation and PTO benefits can be carried forward into the next year providing the total balance of unused vacation or PTO does not exceed twice your annual earning level.

SICK AND SAFE TIME

Eligible employees working 80 hours or more in qualifying locations will accrue sick and safe time (SST). Sick time is for an employee or family member's mental or physical illness including preventative medical care. Safe time is for reasons related to domestic violence, sexual assault, stalking, school closures due to inclement weather or other public safety issues for an employee or their family member. Eligible employees can accrue up to 48 hours per year and carry over up to 80 hours of unused time per year. For more information please refer to the addendum included in this handbook, see your location operations manager or speak with a human resources representative.

FUNERAL/BEREAVEMENT LEAVE

All employees are entitled to take time off when there is a death of an immediate family member. For specific funeral/bereavement leave benefits and eligibility information, please refer to the applicable union contract or your LFHI bereavement policy.

JURY DUTY LEAVE

All employees are entitled to take time off for jury duty. If you are summoned to jury duty, the Company will continue your regular pay during your active jury duty days up to a maximum of 21 days per calendar year. If the need to be away from work continues beyond the 21 day period, you will be placed on unpaid leave of absence and you may choose to then use your earned paid time-off benefit. If at any time during this unpaid leave you do not receive a paycheck, you are responsible for personal payment of your portion of the medical/dental/life insurance premium payments.

Part-time employees who are regularly scheduled to work more than 20 hours per week will be eligible for compensation for the portion of jury duty that conflicts with their regularly scheduled work hours, unless other accommodations can be made.

Please provide your manager with a copy of the notification of your summons to jury duty and proof of service days when your active service has been completed. In addition, you must report for work whenever your presence is not required by the court during your scheduled work hours.

The Company will comply with all applicable state laws regarding jury duty.

TIME-OFF TO VOTE

We encourage every employee of voting age to fulfill their civic responsibilities by participating in elections. You are entitled to take reasonable paid time off to vote in a regularly scheduled election. You are not required to use any of your earned time off to cover the time voting.

You are expected to use the time away from work for the purpose of voting. The Company is allowed to request that you provide proof that you voted and give the name of the precinct where you cast your ballot. This voting leave does not include local or municipal elections.

In addition, if you are selected to serve as an election judge, you must give the Company at least 20 calendar days written notice and this notice must be accompanied by a certification from the appointing authority stating the hourly compensation and the hours to be served. The Company will provide the time off per the certification and pay the difference, if any, between the election judge pay and your regular pay.

XI. HEALTH AND OTHER BENEFITS

Health, wellness and security are the primary goals of our employee benefits program. While your employment status, either full-time or part-time, and union affiliation will dictate specific coverages and programs; we have summarized some of the types of coverages and programs that are offered in the information that follows. For more detailed information highlighting your specific benefit plans, refer to your union contract or the LFHI non-union benefit summary.

HEALTH INSURANCE PROGRAMS

Comprehensive health insurance programs are offered to full-time and some part-time employees. These programs provide medical, dental and life insurance benefits. Eligibility, waiting periods, costs, deductibles, and specific coverage information is provided in the LFHI non-union benefit guide or by your union-affiliated health care administrator.

COBRA INSURANCE CONTINUATION PROGRAM

If you or a dependent lose your health care benefits due to termination of employment, divorce, a dependent exceeding the age limit for eligibility, or other qualifying event, you may have the opportunity to extend coverage in accordance with the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act (COBRA). Contact your union-affiliated health care administrator or the human resource department for further information.

401(k) RETIREMENT SAVINGS PROGRAMS

A variety of 401(k) programs are offered to our employees to promote saving for retirement. The 401(k) programs offer you the opportunity to set aside money before taxes or post-tax (Roth) in your own retirement savings account. You will have the opportunity to invest your money in a variety of mutual funds according to your individual investment strategy. Materials highlighting the 401(k) retirement savings program are provided to all employees when eligibility requirements have been met. All materials are available from the human resource department.

DISABILITY INSURANCE

Providing a source of income when you are sick or disabled for an extended period is important to us. Many of our positions offer a short and/or long-term disability or income replacement program. To determine whether you have this coverage, refer to your union contract or LFHI non-union benefit guide.

EMPLOYEE DISCOUNT

Your Employee discount provides you the opportunity to enjoy savings on purchases each time you shop at any of our stores. This discount may also be used by immediate family members who reside at your residence. Proof of eligibility must be presented at the time of checkout to receive your discount. Discounts are valid only during active employment and are intended for employee and/or family purchases only. Please see the employee discount policy or contact your location manager or human resources for questions or more information.

TRAVEL AND EXPENSE REIMBURSEMENT

There are times when employees may have to engage in business travel. Please refer to the Travel and Expense Reimbursement policy for details. The policy provides reimbursement for a variety of reasonable and customary expenses that are incurred as a result of business related travel. This policy defines a broad range of practices that apply to compensation, expense reimbursement, accommodations, and business travel arrangements.

XII. LEAVING THE COMPANY

RESIGNATION

We hope that you choose to continue your career with us for many years. However, if you do decide to resign from the Company, we would like you to provide us with a minimum of two weeks advance notice. When you leave, you will be asked to turn in any uniforms, keys, Company property, your employee identification card, Company credit cards, and you will be asked to repay any outstanding debts and advances as well as any tuition assistance payments that were made to you during the previous 12 months. All resignations should be submitted in writing and presented to your manager. The Company reserves the right to provide pay for your notice period in lieu of working during your notice period and reserves the right to withhold from your final paycheck the cost of Company property not returned or any outstanding debt you owe the Company.

RETIREMENT

When you plan to retire, there are a variety of retirement benefits and services you should be aware of. To allow sufficient time to prepare the information, please provide 90 days notice in advance of your planned retirement date. Your notice of retirement should be presented to your manager in writing.

OTHER TYPES OF SEPARATION

If you walk off the job, fail to report for your scheduled shifts without notifying your manager, fail to provide adequate notice as part of your resignation, or fail to report to work at the end of an authorized leave of absence, the Company will consider you to have resigned without notice and you will not be eligible for rehire.

EXIT INTERVIEWS

Exit interviews are conducted when employees leave our Company. From time to time, employees who have left our Company may expect to receive an exit interview. This is a valuable form of feedback that helps us learn what we can do better to ensure that our employees choose to stay with us rather than working for another employer.

BENEFIT CONVERSION OPTIONS

If you were participating in a Company-sponsored health insurance, dental insurance, or life insurance program, you will be provided with an opportunity to continue that coverage at your own expense under the terms and conditions of COBRA. For more information concerning this coverage, please contact your manager, a human resources representative, or your union health and welfare plan administrator.

RELEASE OF EMPLOYMENT INFORMATION

When a prospective employer contacts our Company for a reference, we verify only the dates of employment and position held. No other information will be provided under any circumstance unless requested via a legal subpoena or via a written request with all appropriate releases signed and dated by you.

DISPUTE RESOLUTION PROCESS (DRP)

Lund Food Holdings, Inc. wants our employees to feel free to respectfully express differences of opinion when it comes to a suspension, final written warning or termination decision made by the Company. We recognize employees have complex and extenuating circumstances that contributed to such a decision and want to give our employees the opportunity to have their case presented in front of a neutral panel of their peers. To learn more about DRP, contact your manager or a human resources business partner.

XIII. YOUR KEY TO PERSONAL SAFETY AND LOSS PREVENTION

“Safety is not the practice of one person but rather the practice of many people. As one of our Company values that guides our business practices, we are all responsible for safety. Every time we go to work, we make a commitment to provide a safe working environment for our customers, business partners and each other.”

-Tres Lund, Chairman and CEO

TAKING CARE OF YOURSELF AND TAKING CARE OF OTHERS

Let's face it, we seldom think about the possibility of sustaining a disabling injury while at work. But all it takes is one little misstep, miscalculation or mistake and your life or another's can be forever changed.

The things that matter most — your health, your family, play time and work — can all be compromised in an instant. Your personal safety cannot be taken for granted — it's something that you need to work at and we hope you will.

The information that follows represents our guidelines to help ensure your personal safety and the safety of others.

Please take the time to read this information and discuss any questions with your manager or safety representative.

Did You Know?

- Regardless of our job titles, we all have the same three job responsibilities:
 - 1) Keep the environment safe and clean.
 - 2) Create sensational service for our customers.
 - 3) Do the job you were hired to do.

Did You Know?

- You can help prevent accidents by correcting a hazard when you see one or telling your manager about it?

SAFETY RESOURCES

Reporting Injuries – If you're injured on or off the job, let your manager know right away. If your injury is work-related, he or she will want to help you and take care of any hazards. Your manager will ask you to participate in an accident investigation to help us prevent similar incidents. He or she will also complete paperwork to investigate and document the injury.

If you need medical care, you'll be referred to the designated clinic and be asked to bring back a return-to-work form from the physician.

If you have physical restrictions that limit the type of work you can do, your manager may assign you to a Temporary Alternate Duty (TAD) job until you're able to return to your regular assignment. This allows you to continue working during your recovery.

Finally, if you've missed time, you may be eligible for workers' compensation benefits. Once again, your manager will help you with this process.

Safety Committee – The safety committee's role is to help make your workplace safe and prevent accidents from happening. They meet monthly to review accidents, injuries and prevention opportunities. They also help with safety training. The committee can't do its job alone. They need you to work safe and tell them about any safety suggestions or concerns you may have. If you'd like to get involved with the committee, tell your manager you'd like to volunteer.

Asset Protection – The Company’s asset protection department is responsible for providing guidance and direction to our facilities on injury prevention and safety programs. Asset protection employees are also available to assist store employees in the event you have a safety or security question or concern. This department can be contacted by looking in the Company phone directory.

First Aid – When an accident occurs, alert the manager on duty for help.

- Call 911 for medical emergencies
- Know where the first-aid kit is located
- Avoid moving an injured person unless it’s to get him/her away from danger

Helping a Coworker Stay Safe – If you see someone not working safely, point it out to him or her or tell your manager. For example, if you see someone not lifting properly, show them how to lift safely.

Did You Know?

- If you haven’t been trained on how to use a piece of equipment, a chemical or how to complete a task, don’t proceed — ask your manager for assistance.

PERSONAL SAFETY

Training – You’ll receive special training throughout your employment to help keep you and others safe:

- Orientation
- Department training
- As job or procedure changes
- Annual training

Remember, if you haven’t been trained on how to use a piece of equipment, a chemical or how to complete a task, don’t proceed — ask your manager for assistance.

Age-Restricted Work Activities – If you’re under 18, there are special laws designed to protect you against injury while at work. You cannot drive delivery vehicles or operate compactors, balers, slicers, saws, mixers and grinders, nor can you change cooking oil or clean machinery, including slicers. You also cannot sell liquor. The law prohibits these activities.

If you’re under 16, in addition to the activities listed above, you cannot unload trucks, work in freezers, work on ladders, cook, or operate pallet jacks.

Age-Restricted Products – There are special laws designed to limit youth access to age-restricted products such as alcohol. Our Company strongly supports these guidelines. If your job involves the sale of these products, you'll participate in training that covers guidelines you need to follow.

For example, we require our customers to present identification to verify that they are at least 21 years old to purchase alcohol. The cashier or server must verify that the customer is of legal age to purchase these products.

Not following these guidelines can be expensive for you and the Company. You can be subject to costly fines and legal fees and the Company could be fined and lose its license to sell these products. If you have any questions about this information, please ask your manager for assistance.

Did You Know?

- Your personal safety and the safety of others is far more important than any amount of money or property.
- Don't become a statistic. Work safe, play safe, have fun!

Personal Security – Always be aware of your surroundings when you arrive or leave the worksite, especially after daylight hours. Whenever possible, walk with someone else or ask for an escort, and take care and know exactly where you've parked before you head for your car.

When leaving your vehicle unattended, always lock the doors no matter how soon you plan to return. Do not leave personal belongings in plain view. When returning, have the door key in your hand and look around to be aware of your surroundings.

If you see threatening behavior or violence in the area or at your worksite, call 911 when it is safe to do so. Report it as an emergency. Never attempt to intervene in the event of a robbery, scuffle or a fight. Remember, your personal safety and the safety of others is far more important than any amount of money or property. Protect yourself first and get help by calling 911.

Shoplifting and Theft – Never attempt to confront, stop or question someone you suspect of shoplifting or theft; it is unsafe and dangerous to do so. Instead, if you see anyone — customer or employee — take and conceal merchandise, alert your manager immediately. And remember, the best deterrent to shoplifting is providing good customer service.

Respect, honesty and integrity, empowerment, innovation, safety, development and communication are Company values that we bring to life by supporting them and practicing them.

Did You Know?

- Slip-and-fall accidents can be prevented by following good housekeeping practices and being observant.
- We're all responsible for safety. Work safe, play safe, have fun!

ENVIRONMENTAL SAFETY

Housekeeping in your Surroundings – Keep it clean, neat and orderly. At work, just as at home, if everyone doesn't pitch in, housekeeping becomes impossible. When you come across a spill or potential hazard, pick it up, clean it up, don't pass it up. Report hazards that you cannot resolve immediately to your manager.

Preventing accidents and injuries is all about having a keen pair of eyes and being observant in your work area. Take responsibility for keeping your workplace safe.

Warning Signs – They tell us about a possible danger. Know what they mean and follow them. Examples of common warning signs include: "Caution, Wet Floor" or "Danger, Do Not Operate."

Fire Prevention – Making sure fires don't happen is a matter of being alert. If you see items stored too close to a heat source, move them and tell your manager. If you see cords being used unsafely, tell your manager. Keep exits free and unobstructed. Keep your eyes open for fire hazards, then correct and report them if you see them.

If a fire does occur, you'll need to do one or more of the following:

- Call 911
- Alert the manager and coworkers
- Use an extinguisher if it is safe and you have been properly trained
- Evacuate the building

Most important, keep yourself and others safe.

To use a fire extinguisher:

Pull the pin

Aim at the base

Squeeze the trigger

Sweep side to side

When the Lights Go Out – In the event of a power outage, there are three things you should do:

- Secure the building — be sure emergency lights are on
- Take care of the customers — ensure their safety
- Secure the product — see your manager for instructions and assistance

Did You Know?

- Never remove a tag or lock from equipment unless you're authorized to do so.
- Always check to see that equipment and tools are working properly.
- Apply lockout/tagout before cleaning or servicing powered equipment.
- Never put hands, fingers or other body parts into running equipment.

Emergency Action Plan – At times there may be an emergency situation such as threatening weather, fire, bomb threat, chemical spill or another emergency when you may be asked to go to a safe area inside or outside the building.

An emergency procedure flip chart is available and posted at each facility. Locate the flip chart at your location and become familiar with its content.

Working with Equipment and Hand Tools – Before beginning work with any equipment:

- Inspect equipment
- Ensure safety guards are in place
- Follow standard operating procedures
- Obey warning signs
- Don't operate defective equipment
- Lockout/tagout defective equipment
- Report defective equipment to your manager

Lockout/Tagout – Before cleaning, servicing or adjusting any powered equipment that exposes you to moving parts, you must either unplug or lockout and tagout the equipment. This is designed to keep you and others safe from the unexpected start-up or release of stored energy. If you work with certain powered equipment, you'll be trained on specific lockout/tagout procedures. Apply a lock and tag to any equipment that needs repair and report it to your manager immediately. Never remove a tag or lock from equipment unless you're authorized to do so.

Working with Sharp Objects – If your job assignment requires you to use a box cutter, knife, slicer or other sharp object, you'll receive training that covers safe handling procedures. Some safety tips include:

- Verify safety guards are in place
- Cut away from body
- Retract blade before storing or place in knife sheath or holder
- Wear cut-resistant gloves
- Store items securely
- Discard razor blades in designated container for disposal
- Never attempt to put hands, fingers or other body parts near or into moving equipment

- Never place sharp objects or knives in soapy water

Did You Know?

- It's everyone's responsibility — from the president to the deli clerk to the cleaning staff — to make sure the food we sell is safe and wholesome for our customers.

Working with Chemicals – Chemicals, when used properly and safely, pose no harmful effects. But when spilled or used without caution, they can present a possible hazard to you and others in the work area. You have the right to know about any chemical you encounter in the workplace. To learn about and work safely with chemicals, refer to and follow guidelines on the Safety Data Sheets (SDS), listed alphabetically and located in the Safety Center. You may receive a copy of a SDS by asking for one. If we do not have a SDS for a product, we'll request one from the supplier.

Labels and SDS – These provide you with important information to keep you and others safe. Take the time to carefully read chemical labels and MSDS before you handle a chemical.

The Safety Data Sheets will tell you everything you need to know about a chemical, including if you need Personal Protective Equipment (PPE). It will also tell you about a chemical's reactivity level or if the chemical is stable. For example, if you mix household ammonia and bleach together, deadly chlorine gas is produced. Never mix chemicals together that are not designed for mixing. If you find a container that is not labeled, don't use it and never smell it to determine its identity. Questions about a chemical? Ask your manager.

Personal Protective Equipment – Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) is designed to keep you safe while working with chemicals or equipment, or during other work activities. Examples of PPE include eye goggles, gloves and boots. Questions about PPE? Ask your manager where PPE can be found in your department.

Body Fluids – Cleaning a restroom, cleaning up when someone has been sick, or helping bandage a cut are activities that require you to take precautions.

For your personal safety, always wear gloves and other protective gear to ensure that you do not come in contact with any type of body fluid. Bodily fluids such as blood, vomit, urine and feces are all contaminants that may expose you to communicable diseases.

Wash thoroughly before and after removing gloves and engaging in these activities. If you come in contact with bodily fluids, report it to your manager.

Working with Pallet Jacks and Forklift Trucks – The use of pallet jacks and forklift trucks is limited to employees who have been trained and certified to use this equipment. Ask your manager about training before you begin to use this equipment. Never use equipment that you're not trained or authorized to use.

Hazardous Waste Program – We take safety and our commitment to the environment seriously. In the event of a chemical or hazardous waste spill, please dispose of these items properly using safe work practices. Some items we sell cannot be discarded in the trash or poured down the drain. Please see a manager for instructions and training on how to dispose of these items.

Did You Know?

- Make sure safety guards are in place before you start.
- If you feel ill while working in extreme cold or warm weather, tell your manager.

Working Around Traffic – Be especially careful while working in areas that have vehicle traffic. Look both ways before entering a parking lot or parcel pickup area and be alert to warning signs such as taillights, headlights and turn signals that may indicate a vehicle is preparing to move.

Working in Warm Weather – If you work outside or in a warm area during extreme heat, be sure to drink plenty of water. Wear lightweight clothing and a hat. Tell your manager if you feel ill or nauseous, vomit, sweat profusely or not at all, have a headache or any other symptoms. Also notify your manager if you see any of these symptoms in a coworker as emergency medical attention may be needed.

To help combat the heat during extreme temperatures, we reduce exposure by providing extra breaks through job rotation or rest periods, we supply and encourage drinking extra fluids, and we offer cool break-time treats.

Working in Cold Weather – If you work outside during extreme cold weather, be sure to dress appropriately — wear layers, a wind-resistant coat, hat, mittens or gloves, and warm, waterproof, slip-resistant boots or shoes. Tell your manager if you feel ill or have any of these symptoms: tingling, stinging, aching, itching, burning, pain or swelling. If you notice any of these symptoms in a coworker, please let your manager know.

In extreme cold weather, we reduce exposure through task rotation and provide extra fluids.

Business Driving – If your job requires you to drive a Company vehicle or use your own, safety is important. Make sure you:

- Hold a valid driver's license
- Have insurance for your personal vehicle
- Are at least 18 years old
- Wear a seatbelt during operation
- Obey all traffic laws
- Adjust mirrors, seat and other necessary equipment
- Monitor weather conditions, adjusting speed and operation according to current conditions
- Report accidents or citations immediately to the manager in charge
- The use of cell phones while driving a Company-owned automobile is prohibited.

Remember, citations or fines incurred while performing business driving are the responsibility of the driver. Accidents while driving a personal vehicle are the responsibility of the driver.

Did You Know?

- The most important thing you can do to keep food safe is to wash your hands following our Company guidelines.

WORKING WITH FOOD

Keeping Food Safe – From the president of the Company to the front line employee, food safety is everyone’s responsibility. The most important thing you can do in this area is to completely understand and rigorously follow our hand-washing procedures.

If you work with perishable food, you’ll be asked to learn and demonstrate proper hand-washing techniques, use of food safety gloves, product storage and cooling guidelines, and other procedures. This will ensure that our food products are safe for consumption. This requires 100 percent compliance from all of us. Please ask your manager if you have any questions about our food safety guidelines.

Hand Washing – Always wash hands with hand soap:

- Before starting work
- After using the restroom
- After smoking, sneezing or coughing into hands
- After touching yourself or someone else by shaking hands, touching hands, using a tissue, etc.
- After handling trash or dirty utensils
- After handling raw food
- Before putting on, or whenever changing, disposable gloves

Not Feeling Well – You’ve probably heard about viruses and other illnesses in the news such as the Noroviruses, salmonella, E. coli and hepatitis A. These and other infections that cause diarrhea or vomiting can be transmitted from you to customers through exposed food, equipment or utensils.

If you handle and work with food, you’re required by law to report to the person in charge if you have:

- Diarrhea or have been vomiting
- Jaundice
- A boil, infected wound or other lesion with pus
- Salmonella, shigella, E. coli O157:H7 or other enteric pathogen
- Hepatitis A virus
- Sustained Fever (over 101° F)
- Report these to: The person in charge or your immediate supervisor

Personal Hygiene –

- Wash hands often
- Properly bandage all cuts and abrasions
- Use clean gloves, tongs or other devices to avoid touching raw or prepared foods
- Change gloves frequently and after handling raw foods or working on non-food contact surfaces
- Wear clean uniforms

Did You Know?

- Keep cold foods cold and hot foods hot.
- Keep food out of the danger zone, which is the temperatures of 40° F to 140° F

Cleaning and Sanitizing Food Contact Areas –

- Start and end with a clean work area by using our SOP (Standard Operating Procedure) of “Clean as you go”
- Use clean equipment and utensils
- Follow cleaning and sanitation procedures
- Use Company preset formula for cleaning and sanitizing
- Clean and sanitize work surfaces and equipment when changing from raw to ready-to-eat products
- Clean and sanitize work surfaces at other times when they become contaminated

Food Storage –

- Follow established procedures such as storing at proper temperatures and never storing raw products over or above prepared or ready to eat products
- Use FIFO – first in, first out
- Store food at least six inches off floor
- Log and then discard products that are improperly thawed, damaged, substandard or outdated
- Apply established shrink control methods
- Store toxic items, such as chemicals, away from food

Temperature Control –

- Keep cold foods cold and hot foods hot
- Keep food out of the danger zone – temperatures of 40° F to 140° F
- Bring cooked foods to the proper internal temperature
- Most foods 145° F
- Ground beef 160° F
- Poultry 165° F
- Consult the state food code or ask your manager or supervisor for assistance if you are unsure

Maintain Proper Temperatures –

- Frozen Food Freezer/Display Case 0° F
- Ice Cream 20° F
- Dairy Case 38° F
- Cooler Temperature 34–38° F
- Display Cases 34–38° F
- Seafood Display Case 32° F
- Meat Display Case 32° F
- Hot Foods Deli Case 140° F
- Ensure cases, coolers and freezers are working properly
- If case temperatures are incorrect, notify your manager immediately
- Record temperatures at required intervals

Did You Know?

- If we take care in the beginning, the end will take care of itself. When we ensure a safe shopping environment for our customers and a safe work environment for employees, we're setting the stage for success in all areas of our business.

JUST FOR YOU

Ergonomics and Simple Changes – Ergonomics is about fitting the work environment to you. It's looking for ways to reduce awkward posture, high repetition, excessive force, vibration, and extreme temperatures. Often simple solutions can make a job more comfortable while reducing the risk of injury. For example, resting your foot on a grocery cart while cashiering, keeping your hands in a neutral position while performing repetitive tasks, and using a long-handled utensil when scooping and stirring products can increase your comfort.

Here are some tips to help protect you from repetitive injury:

- Stretch before beginning work activities
- Rotate tasks whenever possible
- Change position frequently — taking 10-second mini-breaks will help do this
- Avoid forceful movement
- Use both hands whenever possible
- Avoid excessive reaching
- Use a ladder or stepstool to reduce reach
- Change grips often
- Increase periods of repetitive motion to allow for physical conditioning
- Raise or lower work, if possible, to make it more comfortable

Stretching and Mini-Breaks – Stretching increases flexibility and helps to promote circulation and range of motion while decreasing muscle stiffness and fatigue. When you do stretches, you ultimately decrease the risk of injury. There are several simple stretches that can be done at work. Usually static stretching — which involves extending a muscle to its full range and holding it at that position for 15-30 seconds — is the easiest to do in a work setting. The following stretches may be familiar as “warm-ups” to those of you who are active in sports or strengthening programs:

- Head/Neck Roll — Slowly bend chin to chest. Look over right shoulder. Look up toward ceiling. Look over left shoulder. Repeat 2-4 times.
- Shoulder Shrugs — Raise shoulders up toward ears and hold. Make full circles—up, forward, down and backward. Repeat 3-5 times.
- Elbow Press for Middle Back — Bring your elbows out to side at chest height. Pull them slowly backward to get maximum stretch. Hold, then release. Do 3-5 times.
- Back Extension — Stand and bend backward into extension with hands placed on lower back for support. Hold and release. Repeat 3-5 times.
- Leg Stretches — While seated, raise right leg up with knee bent, and then lower leg. Do the same with your left leg. Repeat 3-5 times.
- Wrist Circles — Slowly rotate hands up, down and around in circles. Repeat 3-5 times.
- Ankle Circles — One at a time, rotate ankles in circles. Repeat 3-5 times.

Caution: If any of these stretches cause acute discomfort, do not do them.

Did You Know?

- The most common injury is a back injury due to improper lifting. Take care to follow safe lifting techniques.

Keeping Your Back Injury-Free – Many jobs require routine lifting. To protect yourself and others from injury, always use proper body mechanics when lifting, carrying or moving items. Use these safe lifting techniques:

- Stretch
- Lift safely
- Get a firm footing; keep feet shoulder-width apart. Wear non-slip shoes like Shoes For Crews® — ask your manager about them.
- Bend your knees, squat down keeping back as straight as possible; lift with your legs.
- Grip load and keep close to your body; avoid twisting.
- Know your limits — don't attempt to lift more than you are capable of lifting; ask others for help; use cart or other device to help you or make extra trips.

Regular exercise is also key to a healthy back. Check with your doctor before you begin any exercise program, and ask him/her to show you special back-strengthening exercises.

SUMMARY

We've covered the most common safety-related topics you'll encounter at work, and we're asking you to follow these rules and procedures to help ensure everyone's safety.

If you work in an area that requires other safety considerations not already discussed, you'll receive special training to ensure that you're equipped with the knowledge, skills and equipment to help keep you and others safe. Examples include: working with hot work permits, confined space entry, boiler maintenance and working on platforms.

Sick and Safe Time

Notice to Employees

Employers with qualifying locations* must provide employees working in these locations paid leave for medical or safety reasons.

Sick Time: An employee or family member's mental or physical illness, including preventative medical care.

Safe Time: Reasons related to domestic violence, sexual assault, stalking, school closure due to inclement weather or other public safety issues, for an employee or an employee's family member.

You can use Sick and Safe Time (SST) for an employee's own care or care of a family member.

SST Rates and Usage:

- Employees without qualifying vacation time: Accrue 1 hour of SST per 30 hours worked in qualifying locations with the ability to accrue up to 48 hours of SST
- Employees with qualifying vacation time: Vacation time will be used to supplement time away for qualifying sick and safe time reasons
- Carry over up to 80 hours of unused SST hours per year
- New hires begin accruing sick leave on the first day of employment, and are eligible to use banked time after 90 days of employment
- Must work 80 hours in qualifying locations to be eligible

Employers must provide SST. Retaliation is illegal.

If you believe your right to have SST has been violated, you can file a complaint:

Contact your Store Leadership or HR Business Partner

St. Paul Locations: 651-266-8900 or laborstandards@stpaul.gov

Minneapolis Locations: 3-1-1 or www.minneapolismn.gov/sicktimeinfo

Additionally, if you have been retaliated against, you may file a complaint in court.

Qualifying locations include:

- July 1, 2017: Downtown St. Paul and Highland Park
- July 1, 2018: Downtown Minneapolis, Northeast Minneapolis, and Uptown Minneapolis

Some job classifications may already meet the accrual requirements of the ordinance through vacation accruals. Speak with your Operations Manager to determine your eligibility or with questions regarding your balance.