Introduction

Our Code, Our Conduct

Our Code of Business Conduct applies to the employees (often referred to as “we”, “us” or “you” in this Code), directors, and contract employees of ARLANXEO, its subsidiaries and controlled affiliates (the “Company”). It outlines fundamental standards of legal and ethical behavior. We expect that anyone doing business with the Company or acting on its behalf will follow these principles.

The purpose of Our Code of Business Conduct is to help fulfil the ethical commitments we have made to each other, our Company, our stakeholders, and ourselves. The Code does not and could not address every possible ethical or legal situation. We provide many more detailed policies and procedures to guide you in those situations.

Protect yourself and our Company by always doing the right thing and using the Code and our Values to act as your guide. A violation of the Code may result in negative consequences, up to and including termination and even legal action against you or us.

By behaving legally, ethically, and responsibly, we can all play a part in upholding our reputation around the world.

Our Commitment To Integrity

We are committed to acting ethically and following legal standards in conducting our business.

When The Right Action Is Not Clear

Not all business decisions are clear. We provide the summary guide below to help you evaluate difficult or ethics-related decisions and point you in the right direction.

If you find yourself in a situation where the right thing to do is not clear, ask yourself the questions below. If the answer to any of these questions is not a clear “Yes”, then stop and talk to your supervisor, another manager, Compliance: compliance@arlanxeo.com or contact the Hotline: arlanxeo.ethicspoint.com.

Speak Up

We rely on people in every part of our business to speak up about issues and concerns to improve our operations and act with integrity. People who come forward with concerns play an important role in maintaining our ethical workplace. You are expected to report suspected violations of the law, policies, and the Code.

To encourage an open and candid culture, we offer several channels for you to ask questions or speak up:

Discuss with your supervisor / manager, another member of management or human resources

Non-retaliation

Regardless of the channel you use to speak up, we are committed to addressing the issue fairly.

The Company will not tolerate retaliation or discrimination against any person for raising a genuine concern or assisting in an investigation.

Retaliation can take many forms, including threats, intimidation, harassment, bullying, humiliation, negatively changing work responsibilities or conditions, or raising issues against someone maliciously or in bad faith. Anyone found to have engaged in retaliation is subject to disciplinary action, up to and including dismissal.

If you feel you have been retaliated against for raising an issue or concern and feel that you cannot raise this issue through other reporting channels, please contact Compliance: compliance@arlanxeo.com or the Hotline: arlanxeo.ethicspoint.com.

We rely on our employees to avoid situations in which their personal interests may conflict with the Company's business. An actual, potential or even perceived conflict of interest could jeopardize both your reputation and the Company's. Follow established procedures to identify, avoid and disclose any potential conflicts of interest, such as:

- Owning or acquiring a personal interest in a business that competes with, does business with, or seeks to do business with the Company or any of our vendors, contractors, subcontractors or customers

Compliance With Laws

The first responsibility of being a good citizen is to obey the law. We comply with the applicable laws and regulations everywhere we conduct business. To help us comply, you:

- Are responsible for obeying laws and regulations where you work. Failure to do so could lead to negative consequences for you and/or the Company
- Must promptly report any actual or potential violation
